DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

St. Joseph's Convent is located on Church Hill in Midland, Allegany County.

St. Joseph's Convent is a large frame two and a half story six bay wide, rectangular structure. The building is covered with novelty siding and rests on a low stone foundation. The roof is hipped with a bracketed cornice and covered with asphalt shingles. Four peaked dormers interrupt the roof line while the main facade is topped by a hipped roof dormer with a cross. Windows in the structure are double hung wooden sash frames with one over one lights. In addition, windows on the main facade have triangular pediments. The main entrance is located on the east side of the convent and features a door with original hardware, horizontal panels and a transom light. The entrance is covered by a two sided hip roofed wrap around porch. A small rectangular, two story addition abuts the main block on the west side. The addition has a gable roof that is also covered with asphalt shingles. The first floor of the addition has a pilastered and arched entrance way that is covered with fish scale shingles. Adjoining the arcade is a hipped roof entrance way supported by chamfered columns. The convent has a single, original, brick chimney located at the inside gable end.

The convent is in good to excellent condition and retains much of its original fabric and appearance.

BUILDER/ARCHITECT

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

St. Joseph's Parish dates back to 1891 when it became the first Catholic Church in Midland. An architect from Baltimore by the name of Stack drew up the plans for the building, which was built rather rapidly due to the desire of the people in the little coal mining town of Midland to have their own church. The Rev. Peter Manning of St. Mary's in Lonaconing held the First Holy Mass on Christmas Day of 1891. In 1898, the Parish received its first resident pastor, an Italian Priest of Nobel birth - Reverend Don Luigi Sartori.

Of particular significance to the St. Joseph's Parish are the three bells in which Don Luigi Sartori had installed in the Church Tower in 1898. The largest weighs 2000 pounds, has a diameter of 46 inches, and rings out an E. natural. They were cast by the McShane Bell Foundry of Baltimore.

A new larger church was completed in 1967. The bells mentioned above were all that was left when the original church was torn down. A memorial was placed in front of the property, which includes the original three bells, which have been refinished, electrified, and remounted.

The Convent was first begun in 1897 to serve as residence for the Nuns of St. Joseph's. It stands architecturally similar to the way it did when built.
